supported by  Bohle

We are the German champions!

About us :

- We are some German students from a little town called “Haan”.
- The youngest children are 12 years and the oldest around 17 years old.
- The connection between us is that we all like building robots.
- Our group is subdivided in teams with four to five people.

Why you should sponsor us ?

You should sponsor us because it is a good possibility to advertise for yourself.

We are represented at a lot of different open competitions with many teams in variable age groups. So your advertising will be seen by many different people.

In this competitions our results are very good and often we are the winners .

Other teams from the north of Germany know us and are frightened of us.

Also the fotos of our vitorys or videos from the contests were publish at some web pages.

There are some ways to advertise.

You can sponsor laptops with your name on it, which we use at contests to repair little thing at the robots or you can print your name on our t-shirts.

This depend from what you sponsor.
